By Deborah A. Carl

Fourth Generation

The Children of Earl Delbert Bellamy and Minnie F. Young

Eleanor Frances Bellamy

Sometime after receiving her degree at the Mildred Elley Business School in Albany, Albany, New York, Eleanor went to work for Attorney James D Connor in Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York.<sup>1</sup> (See Documents 1 & 2) Besides learning secretarial skills, “Mildred Elley girls also took voice lessons to learn how to properly answer the telephone and followed strict etiquette mores expected of young women of the era. ‘You just didn’t chew gum. You kept your feet on the floor, and you were just ladies...’”<sup>2</sup> Perhaps it was while she was attending school in Albany that she met Harold Van Vranken and they married on 1 April 1933 in Albany, Albany, New York, when she was nineteen years old.<sup>3</sup> (See Documents 3 & 4)

What seems to be a common theme in the Bellamy family, the marriage did not last. Harold was listed as “divorced, with no dependents” on his World War II Army Enlistment Record dated 8 July 1942, and Eleanor was going by Bellamy in the 1941 Saratoga Springs city directory.<sup>4</sup> Eleanor married Daniel Schwank on 7 March 1945 in Milton, Saratoga, New York and they had one child, Dana John Schwank, who was born on 21 September 1945 in Saratoga Springs,

Eleanor was a member of the South Wilton Methodist Church which was located five miles north of Saratoga Springs on Route 50.<sup>6</sup> In 1974 she was the chairman of the church bake sale during the Christmas bazaar.<sup>7</sup> Dana and his wife also participated by selling cut glass and African violets.<sup>8</sup>

On Saturday morning, 27 May 2006, Eleanor Bellamy Schwank peacefully “went home to be with the Lord.”<sup>9</sup>

Audrey Bellamy

According to Audrey Bellamy VanVranken’s obituary, she was born at the Saratoga Race Course in Saratoga Springs where her father was working.<sup>10</sup> (See Document 8) Unfortunately, a newspaper account of the birth was not found, and her nephew had never heard the story.

Audrey followed her sister’s example and at age nineteen she married her sister’s brother-in-law, Elwin L. VanVranken on 14 June 1936 in Saratoga County, New York.<sup>11</sup> (See Documents 9 & 10) She had completed three years of high school and after her marriage, she

Elwin and Audrey lived on Loudon Road, adjoining the properties of her brother Earl L. Bellamy and his family, and her parents, Earl D. and Minnie Bellamy, probably because her parents had sold the land in Wilton to Elwin Van Vranken in 1943.<sup>22</sup> (See Document 14)

Audrey also suffered from the Bellamy curse. Sometime after 1960, she and Elwin separated. When Audrey passed away on 28 November 2003 in the Saratoga Hospital, Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York, her obituary mentioned her child, two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.<sup>23</sup> Elwin had predeceased her by about three months, but sadly, his obituary only mentioned he was “survived by his companion...”<sup>24</sup>

Earl Louis Bellamy

Looking at Earl Louis Bellamy’s neighbors in the 1940 census, it seems very few of the men went to school beyond 8th grade, including Earl.<sup>25</sup> (See Document 15) Perhaps they were needed to contribute to the family’s finances. Earl was self-employed, driving a truck.<sup>26</sup> The

In 1938, Leon Daniel Bellamy Sr. was killed in an accident at the papermill when Leon Jr. was about twenty-two years old.<sup>36</sup> While his mother, Louise E. ## The Children of George Jesse Bentley and Sarah Melvina Bellamy

George Richard Bentley

On 1 August 1915 in Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York, George Richard Bentley was born about six and a half years after his uncle, Edward Bentley.<sup>64</sup> (See Document 27) The two were like brothers. Edward had a truck and he and George would join a row of trucks waiting to be hired for jobs.<sup>65</sup> One Sunday, they drove a bunch of young men and women to have a picnic out in the countryside and George met Ethel Minnie Ramsey.<sup>66</sup> They dated for a while and one day, Ethel said something to the effect, "For two cents, I'd marry you tomorrow."<sup>67</sup>

George pulled out two cents and the next day, 27 November 1936, they went to Nassau, Rensselaer, New York, and married, probably because there was no waiting period.<sup>68</sup> (See Document 28)

Edward had said he'd get married when George did, and by coincidence, he got married on 26 November 1936 in Springfield, Hampden, Massachusetts.<sup>69</sup>

George "enlisted" to serve in World War II on 27 June 1945 "for the duration of the War or other emergency, plus six months..."<sup>70</sup> While the military records give the enlistment date, "date drafted" would probably be more accurate for most of the Bellamy relations. At the time George Richard Bentley reported for duty, he had two small children and a seven-month-pregnant wife.<sup>71</sup> Fortunately, the war ended before he was sent overseas and he returned home.<sup>72</sup>

After the war, George worked in the tool crib at Pratt and Whitney and continued there until he retired.<sup>73</sup> He died on 16 February 1996 in East Hartford, Hartford, Connecticut, and was buried in Old Hampden Cemetery, Hampden, Hampden, Massachusetts.<sup>74</sup> (See Document 29)

“When he returned, he lived in New York for a while. From his stories, the Italian he learned in the service stood him in good stead and he became a driver for a mafia boss. When that whole family was killed, he went to Connecticut where he lived in a trailer park keeping a low profile.”<sup>94</sup>

Charles may have been quick to help strangers on the side of the road, but his family could not depend on him. “Whenever we traveled to Springfield, I tried to contact him. Numerous times we would make plans to meet that would fall through with his not showing up for one reason or another. The next time (possibly as much as a year later) he would explain that this or that had come up.”<sup>95</sup>

Marie Luella Bentley

Marie Luella Bentley was born on 16 January 1921 in Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York.<sup>96</sup> (See Document 33) She attended school until 10th grade and then dropped out, probably because her mother had died of cancer that year and Marie was needed at home to help her grandmother (with whom they were living) with the household chores.<sup>97</sup> Marie was seventy years old when she earned a GED.<sup>98</sup> (See Document 34)

She married Douglas E. Ellsworth on 18 October 1941 in Springfield, Hampden, Massachusetts, and lived in East Longmeadow, Hampden, Massachusetts.<sup>99</sup> When Douglas retired, they moved

While there was no indication Donald served in World War II, his brother Gerald O. Bellamy was called up for duty on 2 November 1943 and trained at Camp Fochette in Louisiana.<sup>120</sup> (See Document 41) He attained the rank of sergeant and was discharged on 30 May 1945.<sup>121</sup> Civilian life did not last long, he was called up again to active duty on 3 August 1945 and reported to Fort Dix in New Jersey.<sup>122</sup>

Like many of his cousins, he was called up to serve in the war despite having married Loretta Louise Albright on 19 April 1942 in Scioto, Schenectady, New York, but he did not have any children at that time.<sup>123</sup> (See Document 42) After the war, he worked “at the General Electric Co. in Schenectady. While many of the Bellamy men did not serve during World War I because they were married or had children, the U.S. government was merciless during World War II calling up husbands, fathers, and all the male children of a single family. Both Marshall Edward Gallup and his brother Harold Orson Gallup were called upon to serve overseas. Marshall was inducted on 10 July 1945 and reported to Fort Knox in Kentucky for basic training.<sup>146</sup> (See Document 49) He was assigned to a tank battalion, and “was awarded medals for proficiency with rifle, carbine, machine gun, submachine gun and as a tank driver.”<sup>147</sup> After basic training, he reported to Fort George Meade in Maryland, was sent to France, and proceeded to Luxembourg where he was wounded.<sup>148</sup> His parents received a telegram but no details and were probably worried until they heard from their son.<sup>149</sup> His hand was lacerated due to the explosive effects of a gun discharge during battle, and after healing he continued to serve and attained the rank of Corporal.<sup>150</sup>

He married Ida Cook on 22 December 1947 at Schuylerville, Saratoga, New York.<sup>151</sup> (See Document 53) “Donald Washburn, uncle of the bride, was best man.”<sup>152</sup> Donald Washburn was Ida’s uncle by marriage, but he was also Marshall’s second cousin. They probably weren’t aware of the relationship unless they had a family genealogist tracking all the relationships.

In 1950, Marshall and his family were living on the dairy farm with his parents and he worked as a beater tender at a papermill which was probably the International Paper Co. where he worked for 37 years.<sup>153</sup> Like his brother, Marshall dropped out of school after ninth grade.<sup>154</sup> (See Document 48)

The Child of William Bootier and Ruth Bellamy

Edward (née Bootier) Bellamy

On 29 June 1918, Edward W. Bootier was born in Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York to the then 17-year-old Ruth Bellamy and William Bootier.<sup>168</sup> (Document 57) By 1920, Edward Bellamy and his wife, Etta were caring for their grandson on the family farm while Ruth was lodging with the Hazard family in Saratoga Springs working as a waitress.<sup>169</sup> Edward's grandmother passed away when he was six years old, but he continued to live with and was raised by his grandfather and he became known as Edward Bellamy Jr.<sup>170</sup>

Edward graduated from Saratoga High School in 1935 and went to work at the American Wood Board Company of Clarks Mills where he made wallpaper.<sup>171</sup> On 17 December 1939, he married Elizabeth Jane Smith in Gansevoort, Saratoga, New York.<sup>172</sup> (See Document 58) Edward and Elizabeth lived with Edward's grandfather at the family farm until about 1947, when Edward

While Edward was raised by his grandfather, he kept in contact with his mother. She attended his wedding and Edward named her as the person “who will always know your address” on his World War II Draft Card even though he was married and living with his grandfather at the time.<sup>175</sup>

Despite having three children, Edward served in the Navy during World War II.<sup>176</sup> Perhaps this is where he learned the skills he needed to be a diesel foreman for the American Locomotive Company where he worked most of his life.<sup>177</sup> It seems he enjoyed his job because he became a member of the ALCO Heritage Museum.<sup>178</sup>

Betty may have met her husband in the neighborhood as he lived the next street over, or she may have met him at work as she also worked at Cluett & Peabody before her marriage.<sup>183</sup> After her marriage, she was “strictly a homebody,” canning, sewing, and upholstering.<sup>184</sup> (See Document 61) Betty had the same sofa for 30 years and changed the upholstery when needed.<sup>185</sup>

Betty was twelve years older than her siblings and when their father died in 1943, she took them in, even though she was the mother to three children at the time.<sup>186</sup>

She died on 24 March 2002 in Argyle, Washington, New York.<sup>187</sup>

Ann Mary Bellamy

Ann Mary Bellamy was born on 18 October 1929 in Troy, Rensselaer, New York.<sup>188</sup> (See Document 62) About 1933, her parents separated.<sup>189</sup> Ralph moved to Albany, Albany, New York, and when his father moved to Albany around 1940, Ralph and his two younger children moved in with him.<sup>190</sup> After Ralph's death in 1943, the children returned to Troy where Ann was a member of the Youth Fellowship at the Trinity Methodist Church and participated in a one-act play to raise funds for summer camp.<sup>191</sup> (See Document 63)

She dropped out of high school when she was sixteen, and went to comptometer school because they guaranteed her a job, and by 1948, she was working as a comptometer operator.<sup>192</sup> That same year she married Clayton Lamitie on June 5th in Troy, Rensselaer, New York.<sup>193</sup> (See Documents 64 & 65) She hated working as a comptometer, and as she and Clayton didn't have any children until ten years into the marriage, she went to work as a seamstress making children's dresses.<sup>194</sup> She was a "terrific seamstress," and if she wanted a new dress, she'd make one that day.<sup>195</sup> She also knit beautiful sweaters.<sup>196</sup>

Roy Vernon Stophilbeen

Roy was fortunate that his father was able to find consistent work as an auto mechanic even during the Depression, and Roy also found work in the auto industry doing bodywork.<sup>199</sup> He was born on 8 March 1918, in Minneapolis, Hennepin, Minnesota, and while the 1940 census indicates he completed four years of high school, his Army enlistment record says he only completed three years.<sup>200</sup> (See Document 66)

At the time of the 1940 census, Roy was working at a private garage in Wadena, Wadena, Minnesota doing bodywork, and later that year he left the family home and was in Fargo, Cass, North Dakota, working for Anderson-Bearson Pontiac.<sup>201</sup> (See Documents 67 & 68) When he

Unlike her siblings who were all born in Minnesota, Mary Lou was born in Hudson, St. Croix, Wisconsin on 21 October 1927.<sup>209</sup> While most of the family stayed in the Washington state area, at age eighteen, Mary Lou went to Richmond, Richmond, Virginia probably to marry Sargeant Otha Cleammons Bayne, Jr. on 2 March 1945.<sup>210</sup> (See Document 72)

Together, they had three children before Otha died at his residence on 30 October 1971 at the age of 47.<sup>211</sup> Sadly, that was not the first untimely death in their family. Their first child was born and died the same day, and eight years after Otha's death, their third child, Sharon Lee Bayne passed away.<sup>212</sup> (See Documents 73 & 74)

The Child of George Wachsmuth and Lillie (née Stophilbeen) Bellamy

Arthur Earl (née Wachsmuth) Bellamy

At first glance, it appeared Arthur Earl Bellamy, who went by Earl, was the son of John (née Stophilbeen) Bellamy and Lillian Bellamy, but he was the son of Lillie (née Stophilbeen) Bellamy and her first husband George Wachsmuth.<sup>222</sup> George and Lillie were married in 1914 in Hennepin County, Minnesota; Earl was born on 11 March 1917 in Minneapolis, Hennepin, Minnesota.<sup>223</sup> (See Document 78) There are twenty-one years between the births of John Stophilbeen and Lillian Bellamy's youngest child, Myrtle, and Earl. Lillian would have been about forty-five years old when Earl was born making it unlikely that she would have had a successful pregnancy. And sure enough, there is a birth record for a child named Wachsmuth with a mother with the maiden name Stophilbern dated 11 March 1917.<sup>224</sup>

While Earl was being raised by his grandparents as their son, his biological mother was a Hollywood hostess and a musical performer and had married William Andrew Black, a property manager for First National Studios.<sup>225</sup> Earl also had performing in his blood. In 1934 he

Document 77: Obituary for Dona Ruth (Stophilbeen)
Schneidmiller

SCHNEIDMILLER, Dona Ruth

Longtime St. John resident, passed away February 21, 2019 in Spokane, at the age of 88. A private family graveside service will be held in the St. John Cemetery. Dona was born March 2, 1930 in Truman, Minnesota to Roy and Vera Nilsson Stophilbeen. She spent her early years in Minnesota before moving with her family to Montesano, Washington. She graduated from high school there and then completed her Bachelor of Arts Degree from Central Washington University in Ellensburg. Dona moved to St. John, Washington on her first teaching assignment. She married Harvey E. Schneidmiller in Endicott on June 18, 1955. They made their home in St. John and operated a farm just west of town. Dona kept very busy as a homemaker and mother to their four children, Lori, Kevin, Craig and Brett. When she wasn't busy with the kids she loved to read and she liked to follow the local sports teams or watch sporting events on TV. Later in life she found great pleasure in spending time with all of her grandchildren. Harvey passed away in 2015 and after living at home for about a year Dona moved to Spokane in 2017. Dona is survived by her loving family; daughter Lori (Doug) Bright of Washougal, WA; her three sons, Kevin (Susan) of Post Falls, ID, Craig (Louann) of Liberty Lake, WA, and Brett (Kirsten) of Spokane; her eight grandchildren of whom she was so proud, Emily (Drew) Hodgson, Derek (Ashton) Schneidmiller, Matthew (Demi) Schneidmiller, Lucas (Mallory) Schneidmiller, Jordan Schneidmiller, Courtney (Scott) Hinde, Kris (Shauna) Schneidmiller and Sierra Schneidmiller; by five great-grandchildren, Jaxon, Cameron, Kaden, Konrad and Hadley; and by her two sisters, Eris (Ray) Smith of Vancouver, WA, and Ora Mae Flannigan of Bellevue, WA; and by several nieces and nephews. In addition to her husband, Dona was preceded in death by a brother Roy and sister Mary Lou. The family suggests memorial gifts in her memory be to the St. John EMT's.

Extravaganza scenes, dances both lovely and hilarious, and catchy tunes featured the annual spring opera, The Belle of New York, by Gustave Kerker. Six separate sets, twelve dances, and clever costumes proved very popular.

As the story is very thin, this comic opera depends on characterization for its appeal. Comic, eccentric, fantastic, typical types—they took in people of all descriptions. Especially well interpreted was the part of Ichabod Bronson, the president of the Young Men's Rescue League and Anti-Cigarette Society of Cohoes, who was, nevertheless, not impervious to the charms of any and all pretty girls. He was unable, however, to keep his young son, Harry, straight. Harry fell in love with every girl he met. A few were Cora Angelique, the nine-times-married comic opera queen; Fifi, the clinging French girl; and Violet, the Salvation Army lassie, the Belle of New York. Harry finally regained his fortune and married Violet.

Comic relief was presented by the twin princes, the secretary, the Bowery characters, the polite lunatic. Beautiful scenery, eccentric dances, and fine acting made up for an opera that had little that was beautiful in songs or characters to present. It was, however, an enjoyable evening's entertainment.
