Earl Delbert Bellamy

While the 1892 New York census and his World War I and World War II draft records put Earl Delbert Bellamy's birth at 1892; the New York State, Birth Index, and his obituary put his birth at 1891.¹ (See Documents 1–5) He was not located in the 1910 U.S. census, but he was not listed as living with his parents.² (See Document 6) He would have been about nineteen years old and was probably working and living in another household. His brother Leon was sixteen and working as a farm laborer in the Van Keyning household.³ (See Document 7)

Perhaps the Depression destroyed Earl's business, because in 1935, Earl, Minnie, and Earl L. were living in Wilton, Saratoga, New York, not far from the Bellamy family farm where Earl's father lived.¹¹ Earl was working as a bus driver, and Earl L. was working as a truck driver.¹² (See Document 12) Minnie must have had some money because she had bought the property in Colonie on 26 November 1928, and sold it on 9 April 1938.¹³ She also bought land in Wilton in 1930 and 1935.¹⁴

By 1950, Earl and his wife Minnie were living on Loudon Road in Wilton either with or next to Audrey and her family and Earl L. and his family.¹⁵ Minnie was working as a practical nurse at

Leon D. Bellamy

The Bellamy family farm was probably either unable to support the family, or the boys wanted something more. When Leon was sixteen years old, he was living with Charles and Florence Van Keyning in Malta, working as a farm laborer.¹⁹ But he didn't stay on that farm either, in 1915 he was living on Main Street in Corinth with his eighteen-year-old brother Orson, working as a machinist with the International Paper Company.²⁰ (See Documents 14 & 15) Fourteen days after the New York census was taken, Leon married Louise E. Ide, a school teacher, in Corinth, Saratoga, New York.²¹ (See Document 16)

When Leon was registered for the World War I draft on 5 June 1917, he and Louise were already the parents of a son born on 3 February 1916 and he would have been in class two and exempt from the draft until class one (unmarried young men and men without dependents) was exhausted.²² (See Documents 17 & 18) He and Louise added two daughters to their family, and he served as a Trustee for the First Baptist church at Corinth.²³ (See Documents 19 & 20) While serving, their pastor, Reverend Walter A. Miller, attended a dance at a private home with Miss Mina E. Clothier.²⁴ This was a scandal and the Trustees, including Leon, called for Rev. Miller's resignation.²⁵ The following day, Rev. Miller announced his engagement to Miss Clothier.²⁶ While Rev. Miller subsequently announced his resignation, he changed his mind and requested the matter be put to the congregation for a vote.²⁷ The congregation voted unanimously to keep him.²⁸

Rev. Miller was no longer at the First Baptist church in 1938, and Rev. Gordon I Nichols officiated at Leon's funeral.²⁹ Wednesday afternoon, 12 January 1938, Leon was working his shift as the night machinist at the International Paper Company "when a belt which provides power for operation of Machine 10 slipped from the pulley, bounded along the line shaft and hit [Leon and Fred King, the foreman of the machine crew and the core factory]."³⁰ Leon was taken to the Corinth Hospital with a fractured skull and died in the early morning hours.³¹ (See Document 21) While all the children were living at home, only Jane was underage, and she and her mother were awarded $12.36 per week (worth about $256.54 in 2022) plus $200 for funeral expenses.³²

Her brothers had left home to work as soon as they could, and so did Sarah. At age nineteen she was living at 52 Catherine Street in Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York, working as a milliner.³³ (See Document 22) George Jesse Bentley was a delivery clerk who lived less than two miles away.³⁴ Did they meet when he made a delivery? Or perhaps at church? The two young people married on 30 May 1914 in Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York, and lived with his parents.³⁵ (See Document 23) When Jesse's father died a year after the wedding, his mother, Louella, moved to Stillwater, New York, and Jesse and Sarah probably lived with or near her as their second son, Wesley, was born there.³⁶ (See Documents 24 & 25)

Louella remarried on 3 November 1917 to William Brown and almost immediately moved to Longmeadow, Hampden, Massachusetts.³⁷ Jesse and Sarah had to find a place to live, and they rented a home in Saratoga Springs where their next two children were born.³⁸ (See Documents

26–28) Jesse worked for the railroad as a car cleaner.³⁹ In 1922 Jesse and Sarah moved to Springfield, Hampden, Massachusetts, and in 1924 they were living at 85 Merrimac Street across the street from Louella.⁴⁰ Jesse and Sarah’s last child was born while they were living there, and they named him William Brown Bentley after Louella’s husband.⁴¹ (See Document 29)

Life wasn’t easy for Jesse and Sarah. Jesse worked various jobs and at one point worked for the Salvation Army selling the “War Cry” magazine, and their oldest child, George Richard, would go to Saint James Avenue “where the rich people lived,” and take orders for the pies Sarah would bake from the local fruit the children would pick.⁴² The family would get wooden crates from the factory where Louella’s husband worked, and they would chop them up to use in the wood-burning stove that they used to cook and heat the home.⁴³ But Merrimac Avenue was a good place to live. Once, Sarah was ill, the snow was two to three feet deep, and the doctor could not get down their street.⁴⁴ Jesse, William Brown, and the neighbors all went out and cleared the way for the doctor.⁴⁵

When Louella's second husband passed away in 1928, Jessie and Sarah moved with their five children from 85 Merrimac Street into Louella's 90 Merrimac Street home and stayed with her for about six years before moving into their own home.⁴⁶

Sarah did not get to enjoy her new home for very long. She passed away on 17 December 1936 in Springfield, Hampden, Massachusetts.⁴⁷ (See Document 30) With her death, her husband and her two youngest and unmarried children once again moved in with his mother.⁴⁸ (See Document 31) Sarah had probably expected to get married, set up house, and raise her children near her family in New York. Instead, she spent most of her married life living with or near her mother-in-law and moving to Massachusetts. But perhaps that wasn't a bad thing. When William Brown collapsed at work and was dying, Sarah's brother-in-law Edward, who was six years older than Sarah's oldest child, stayed with her children while she stayed with Louella and helped care for William.⁴⁹ Maybe Sarah cared for Edward between 1915 and 1917 while the widowed Louella worked as a nurse.⁵⁰ These two women may have been each other's support as they raised their families and cared for their homes. Jesse and Sarah obviously admired Louella's husband enough to name their last son after him.

Orson Edward Bellamy

Orson E. and his brother Leon must have been close. First, they were living together in 1915, and then they married the Ide sisters. Leon married Louise Ide in 1915 and Orson married Edwina Ide on 7 November 1916 probably in Saratoga Springs, Saratoga, New York.⁵¹ (See Document 32) Like Leon, Orson E. worked at the International Paper Company.⁵² (See Document 33) And like Leon, he was married with a child when he registered for the World War I draft and was deferred and not called up for service.⁵³ (See Document 19)

In 1920, Orson E. and his brother Earl were renting homes almost next to each other on Oak Street in Corinth, Saratoga, New York.⁵⁴ (See Document 10) But Orson E. didn't stay with the paper company. Orson E.'s grandfather had done carpentry, his father had done carpentry, and Orson E. became a carpenter doing contract work.⁵⁵ (See Document 34) Unlike his brother Earl, Orson E.'s business must have been successful because, by 1930, Orson E. owned his home worth $6,500 at 212 Alexander Avenue in Scotia, Schenectady, New York.⁵⁶ (See Document 35) He worked as a contractor until he retired in 1971.⁵⁷

It appears Julia did not leave home before her marriage. She married Harold Gallup when she was twenty years old on 2 April 1919 in Wilton, Saratoga, New York.⁶¹ (See Document 37) Harold was a farmer and they lived on Elizabeth Washburn's farm.⁶² Elizabeth had been married to Julia's uncle, Robert Washburn, who had died in 1917 and she probably needed the help.⁶³

After her divorce, she was waiting tables in Saratoga Springs, then she moved to Troy where she worked at Earl & Wilson as a stitcher.⁶⁸ (See Documents 43 & 44) She married Arthur M. Sweeney on 16 October 1933 in Saratoga Springs.⁶⁹ (See Documents 45 & 46) Arthur was a chef at Empire Lunch and they lived at 84 State Street in Saratoga Springs.⁷⁰ (See Document 47) This continued until 1937 when Arthur left Empire Lunch and started driving a taxi.⁷¹ In 1939, Ruth and Arthur were separated. Ruth was living in Millett's Hotel and operating Central Taxi; Arthur was living at 75 Washington Street.⁷² (See Document 48) They never reconciled.

Arthur died in Ballston Spa in 1944.⁷³ Two months after Arthur's death, Ruth joined the Army and served until 3 June 1945.⁷⁴ She was one of more than 150,000 women who served in non-combat positions, and she was stationed at Camp Roberts in California.⁷⁵

The Children of Arthur J. Bellamy and Mary Margaret Noonung

Ralph Erskin Bellamy

Ralph Erskin Bellamy married Dora A. Knauer on 18 May 1919 in Troy, Rensselaer, New York.⁷⁹ (See Documents 53 & 54) They lived with her parents in Brunswick, Rensselaer, New York, and Dora gave birth to their daughter Elizabeth Margaret on 22 December 1919.⁸⁰ (See Documents 55 & 56) The old biddies counting on their fingers probably couldn't wait to spread the gossip. Ralph was working as a turner at a collar shop to support his little family, and he didn't stay with his in-laws for long.⁸¹ In 1923, he was living on Lewis Street, probably with his father, and working as a machinist.⁸² (See Document 57) Finally, in 1925, Ralph was able to provide a home for his family in Troy at 248 Second Street.⁸³ (See Document 58) Ralph was now working in the radiator department of the Ford plant.⁸⁴

When Elizabeth was ten years old, her sister Ann Mary was born and another child was born two years later.⁸⁵ (See Document 59) Two years after that, Ralph was separated from Dora; she

The Children of John Stophilbeen and Lillian Bellamy

Roy J. Stophilbeen

The Stophilbeen family left Canada and moved to Minneapolis, Hennepin, Minnesota around 1909 and the following year, Roy at age seventeen was apprenticed to a “milk shop.”⁹⁰ (See Document 65) While Minnesota had a large milk industry, and Hennepin had several dairy farms, the transcription of the 1910 U.S. census is probably incorrect and probably should be “mechanic” shop as Roy became an auto mechanic and never changed professions. Roy married Vera Wilson on 18 November 1914 in Minneapolis, Hennepin, Minnesota.⁹¹

Roy moved his family to the suburbs of Minneapolis. They were living in Rockford, Wright, Minnesota sharing a home with Vera’s sister Edith and with Vera’s sister Gertrude and her family.⁹² (See Document 66) Roy was the only one working so he would have been supporting the entire household.⁹³ Roy moved around Minnesota, first to Rockford, Wright, Minnesota, to Walnut Grove, Redwood,

Minnesota, to Truman, Martin, Minnesota, to Westford, Martin, Minnesota, to Wilmar, Kandike, Minnesota, to Wadena, Wadena, Minnesota, to Moorhead, Clay, Minnesota, and a few more towns in between before going to Coulee City, Grant, Washington.⁹⁴ He again moved every

Lillie M Stophilbeen

Lillie was twenty years old when she married George Wachsmuth on 17 June 1914 in Hennepin County, Minnesota.⁹⁶ (See Document 68) As with many of her Bellamy relatives, her first marriage failed, but her mother may have been a large contributing factor. George applied for a restraining order against his mother-in-law, because “Mrs. Wachsmuth’s mother has been visiting the home and taking her daughter to other places and urging her to leave her husband.”⁹⁷ This had been going on for their entire marriage.⁹⁸ (See Document 69) In 1920 Lillie was divorced and living with her parents in 1920 as Lillie Stophilbeen, working as a cashier at the New England Furniture & Carpet Company.⁹⁹ (See Documents 70 & 71) She appears to have moved with her parents to Los Angeles, Los Angeles, California.¹⁰⁰ “Mrs. Lillian Bellamy, a widely known soprano, who has recently come from Minneapolis, will give several solos, and her sister, Miss Myrtle Bellamy, will give a group of readings.”¹⁰¹ (See Document 72)

She had one child with George, who was known as Earl Arthur Bellamy and was raised by her parents.¹⁰² (See Document 73) Perhaps this is why the family changed the surname to Bellamy

Myrtle also went with her parents to Los Angeles and changed her name to Bellamy.¹¹¹ (See Document 72) She also was involved with her sister in entertaining and performing, but she was working as a nurse when her mother threw an engagement party for her and Philip Harlow on 9 April 1925.¹¹² The party was worthy of four paragraphs in the Hollywood Daily Citizen.¹¹³ Philip was working as a bookkeeper and living in Oakridge, Lane, Oregon.¹¹⁴ (See Document 77) Myrtle, accompanied by her soon-to-be mother-in-law, joined him there where they married on 16 June 1925.¹¹⁵ (See Document 78)

ACCIDENT AT CORINTH MILL PROVES FATAL

Injuries suffered yesterday afternoon while at work in the Corinth plant of the International Paper Company resulted early today in the death of Leon Bellamy, Sr., of Corinth. Fred King, 66, foreman of the machine crew and the core factory, was injured in the same accident.

The men were injured when a belt which provides power for operation of Machine 10 slipped from the pulley, bounded along the line shaft and hit the men. Officials were at a loss to explain the accident.

Bellamy, who was night machinist at the plant, was admitted to Corinth Hospital at 5:45 P. M. suffering from a fracture of the skull and bruises to the right shoulder and side. He died at 1:20 A. M.

King was treated at the mill for a possible fracture of the right hand. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of the injury.

Document 75: Marriage of William Black and Lillie May Bellamy

Monday, December 19

WEDDING of interest to a large circle of friends is that of Miss Lillie May Bellamy of Orange Grove Avenue and Mr William Black of Hollywood, formerly of London, England, that took place Friday morning at 11:30 o'clock in the parsonage of Dr. Willisle Martin, pastor of the Wilshire Methodist Church and former pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hollywood of which the bride is a member.

The impressive ring service of the Methodist Church was used by Doctor Martin. The bride was charming in a blue velvet ensemble suit, of Copenhagen blue with hat and fur of a blonde shape. She carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies. Miss Bellamy was given in marriage by her father, Mr. John Bellamy and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Phillip Harlow who wore a black velvet ensemble suit with fox fur. Mr. Harlow attended the groom as best man.

After the service, attended only by relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy, parents of the bride, gave a charmingly appointed wedding luncheon at the Roosevelt Hotel. Blue and gold predominated in the table appointments. There was a wedding cake centering the table. Covers were laid for ten.

Mr. and Mrs. Black have gone to San Diego and Coronado on their honeymoon. They will reside on Orange Grove Avenue on their return this week. The bride is well known in musical circles. She is a dramatic soprano of considerable reputation, having appeared at the Bowl in "Aida" and before clubs and other organizations. She is also a member of the Hollywood Players. Mrs. Black is formerly of Minneapolis. Mr. Black, who came to Hollywood a year ago from London is associated with the First National Studios.
